Expedition Impossible, the next evolution of high adventure and human drama, is a new global competition series from Executive Producer Mark Burnett. The series will feature teams of ordinary people doing the extraordinary, as they compete in the biggest adventure of their lives.

In Expedition Impossible, teams of three will solve problems while racing across deserts, over mountains and through rivers. Each week a new stage of the expedition will be revealed. After ten stunning legs of competition, one team will cross the finish line first to claim victory.

We are currently on a nation-wide search looking for dynamic, competitive, and energetic teams of three (3) people for Expedition Impossible. Don't spend the month of April at your boring job. Spend it on the experience of a lifetime! You MUST be at least 18 years old, a legal US resident and have a US passport valid through the end of 2011 to participate.

To apply, email David Polanzak at dpo.casting@gmail.com. Your email must include the following:

- Name, age, location and contact info for all three (3) team members
- Recent photo of all 3 team members
- Level of individual and team's experience with competitions/races, etc.
- Brief description of why your team is great for this competition and why you will win
- Anything else that makes your team memorable and unique

Good Luck!
